AMUSEMENTS.

"The Runaway Girl" is playing to large audiences at Manhattan Beach, New York.

× × × Glory Quayle in the Eastern "Christian" company next season is to be played by Lilla Vane, who also, oddly enough, succeeded Viola Allen a few years ago in the principal feminine role in "Shenandoah."

Manager George W. Lederer states that, since the London theatrical censor will not ailow "The Rounders" to be produced in the English metropolis on the score of its alleged "broadness," he will use a number its best songs in "The Casino Girl, which is shortly to be put on at the London Shaftesbury Theater.

"The Queen's Necklace," a play by Robert Buchanan, will be produced in Londor by Mrs. Langtry after she finishes her to through the English provinces. The actress will imitate Sothern and Hackett's feats in the Zenda plays, for she is to "double" the roles of Marie Antoinette and Madame Olivier, the frail creature of the court who resembled the Queen so strongly.

Vaudeville artists in Chicago are sending no loud wails over the recent action of the "combine" in cutting salaries. Henry Lee says he is not able to make more than $200 a week this summer, whereas he has been accustomed to receiving $450 or $500 a week. finnie Seligman thinks that a reduction from $700 to $350 a week is entirely too much for her and the little company she carries. Hassan Ben All and his group of acrobats get half of their former stipend per week.

Douglass, fit of which the entertainment was given. Those present, however, entered fully into Mr. Arthur Smith Mr. Frederick Ayers, Mr. the spirit of the entertainment and seemed to greatly enjoy every number. The most conspicuous and enjoyable feature was the spirited and skilled plane playing of Mr. Fancher, the musical director and accompanist. Mr. Fancher's splendid work was highly complimented by the musical critics in attendance last night The Keeley "Sisters," a duo of juvenile professional vaudeville artists, took a large part in the entertainment. They were given an enthusiastic reception at their first entry and might have iness enables us to undersell prayer book. Little Miss Doll's voice, however, while very sweet, is scarcely strong enough to reach the length and breadth of Tomlinson Hall. "The Birth of the Butterflies" was well done and pro voked much applause, particularly from the young folks in the audience, who greatly enjoyed the discomfiture of three little girls who narrowly missed being "shut out" by the closing of the curtains. Charles Daugherty made a favorable impression with "The Gondolier" song and was forced to respond to an encore with Andrew Mack's "Song of the Rose." Little Miss Edna Quigley scored a decided success with her "Highland Fling," executed in correct Scotch costume. The "Scarf Dance" was very picturesque and the audience asked for a second view, but was denied. The anvil chorus from "Il Trovatore" was excellently done, when it is considered that the body of singers from the German House, which was carefully trained for the occasion, was suddenly called out of the city and a new, undrilled chorus had to be employed. The "Soldiers' Chorus" from "Faust" furnished an agreeable ending for the brief programme. It was rendered by singers obtained partly from the St. Paul's Church Association, as was also the anvil

Great praise is due the directors of the enterprise for their wisdom in abbreviating the programme last night on account of the excessive heat prevailing. Doubtless, if the general public understood that the numbers given are quite commensurate with the state of the weather the attendance would be largely augmented. There is no reason why the hall should not be crowded to-night and to-morrow night. The performance is highly enjoyable and does not last longer than 10 o'clock.

The scenic accessories on the stage ar he same as those used at the recent Elks carnival, with the exception of the cur tains and exterior decorations. The "drop" curtains are of bright red cloth and are ar ranged so as to work smoothly from th center to each side of the stage. Immense flags, depending from the lofty ceiling and draped away on each side of the mammot platform, gave a delightful effect of col oring and patriotism. The flags were separated at the top by a handsomely em-broidered black velvet banner, carrying the word "Welcome," surrounded by arcs of ### red, white and blue bunting. A Boy Has a Fall.

Master Albert Quigley, the seven-year-old son of Chief of Police James F. Quigley sustained a very ugly fall during the progress of the carnival given in Tomlin son Hall, last night, for the benefit of th Fresh Air Mission. Master Quigley was on of "The Royal Japs," whose lively antics afforded much amusement. In making their exit, the "Japs" executed a variety laughable antics, acrobatic feats and the like. While engaged in turning a series of "handsprings," Master Quigley suddenly lost his balance and the audience was hor rifled at seeing him fall headlong from the lofty stage to the floor beneath-a distance squarely on his head and was temporarily Eager hands quickly lifted him from the floor and carried him to the dressing rooms under the stage, where he was soon revived. The boy's sister and aunt were at hand and after working with him for a time said they did not believe he had sustained any serious injury.

A RUNAWAY BLOCKED

By the Greenwood Car and a B Moving Van.

Yesterday there was one of the be starts for a runaway on East Washington street, between Delaware and Pennsylvania streets, that was ever witnessed and those who saw a big animal take the bit in his teeth and dash off with the driver in a light But the runaway came to an unexpected the driver would be able to control the animal but the reins were dropped and the wagon was thrown from side to side as It was rapidly whirled down the street. At Virginia avenue the big Greenwood car was just coming up and blocked the path of the horse. At the same instant a large heavy moving van came from the opposite direction, completely shutting off escape The horse was going at such a rapid galt that there was no check and he plunged headlong into the center of the moving wagon. There was a loud crash and the runaway was stopped, but the driver of the moving wagon who was sitting on his seat half asleep never moved and quietly drove on as unconcerned as if nothing had I training in the Lafayette High School. happened.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION BY THE SUPREME COURT.

The Fuel Cannot Be Legally Pumped Out of Gas Wells-An Old Receivership.

In affirming the decision of the lower court in the case of the Manufacturers' Indiana Natural Gas and Oil Company yeswent to the house. Before the arrival of natural gas cannot be legally pumped out of gas wells. This was one of four cases from pumping natural gas out of Grant county to supply cities and towns at a distance. It is alleged in the complaint that the plaintiffs own different manufacturing plants in Grant county, in which they have been burning natural gas for fuel which was drawn from their own wells on their own property. The complaint alleges that the gas beneath the surface is contained in a large reservoir, from which all the wells in the district draw their supply, and that when an excessive quantity is drawn from one well the owners of all the other wells in the neighborhood suffer as a conse-

It was alleged that the defendant used pumps to carry gas from the wells to distant cities in violation of the statutes of 1891 and 1893, which forbade the use of any device for the purpose of increasing the natural flow of gas from the wells. In affirming the decision of the lower court the Supreme Court held that the surface proprietors have the right to reduce to possession the gas found beneath, and could not be absolutely deprived of this right without the taking of private property. But, the court continues, there is a coequal right in all such owners to take gas from the same reservoir, and no one should be alhis own land so as to acquire an undue proportion of the common stock of gas to the detriment of others.

The court says that even in the absence of a statute expressly forbidding the use of pumps the common owners of gas in common reservoir would have the right to enjoin any and all acts which will materially injure or which will involve the destruction of the property in the common source of supply. The court declares that the al legation that the defendant is using pumps in some wells and threatening to use them in others, by which the flow of gas is greatly increased, and that the effect of the use of such machinery is to remove the back pressure that confines the gas in the trenton rock and permit salt water to run in and flood the reservoir so as to destroy i and entirely stop the flow of natural gas in plaintiffs' wells shows such a threatened injury as is a proper subject of relief by injunction.

F. A. W. Davis, of the Manufacturers Natural Gas Company, said yesterday that while he saw a great danger to Indianapolis in the decision of the Supreme Court, yet he thought it would not apply to the pumping of gas through the pipe lines, but only to pumping directly from the wells. He said it might ultimately shut off gas from Indianapolis, as no gas could be brought here if dependence was placed entirely in the normal flow from the wells. He thought the case would be appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States.

J. H. Dilks, general manager of the Indiana Natural Gas and Illuminating Company, said the case would be appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States. In the meantime, he says, the Legislature will be asked to amend the gas law. Ferdinand Winter says the decision wi not affect Indianapolis and that only the section of the law which says the flow of gas from wells may not be increased by artificial means has been affirmed by the decision. He says the gas may be pumped after it is once on the surface.

A. P. Hendrickson's Report in the Hildebrand & Fugate Case.

Alonzo P. Hendrickson, receiver of the firm of Hildebrand & Fugate, wholesale and retail hardware merchants, doing business in Marion, Jasper and Owen counties filed his final report with Judge McMaster yesterday. He was appointed receiver Sept. 23, 1893, and Jan. 4, 1894, disposed of the stock to Philip Hildebrand and has since given his attention to the disposal of the real estate and collection of notes and accounts. The report shows that the total amount collected was $48.876.79; the disbursements have been $47,646.42, leaving a balance of $1,228.27. He asks that $400 additional be allowed to Chambers, Pickens Moores for attorneys' fees and asks for $828.27 for his own services. The allowances were granted and the receiver was discharged.

Emanuel I. Fisher's Suit. On the relation of the State Emanuel

Fisher, trustee, instituted mandamus proceedings against Harry B. Smith, county auditor, yesterday, to compel him to issue warrants for the payment of certificates held as titles to some lots that were sold in Brightwood for taxes. The complaint says that Feb. 8, 1897, Josh Zimmerman bid in his own lots in Brightwood, sold for taxes. for $115.97. Jan. 12, 1899, Fisher bought them and demanded a deed from the auditor. He asserts that it was refused on the ground that the property was forfeited March 22 1897, for use for the common school fund as payment of the principal and interest or two $1,000 school fund loans made to Daniel H. Wiles and wife in 1888 and 1889. Fisher demands his purchase money and 6 per cent. interest.

Wife's Affections Altenated. Henry Bullock brought suit against Wil

liam Robertson and Roxanna Robertson his wife's parents, yesterday for $25,000 damages for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections. He charges that they induced her to leave him and have her secreted so that he cannot visit her. He also charges that they compelled her to stand in their market stall and do other things he is opposed to his wife doing.

Would Rather He in Court.

Clarence L. Kirk filed a petition in the Circuit Court yesterday asking that Joseph Wambaugh, George Melik and himself be lowed to use his power over the wells on excused from appearing at Room 616 Stevenson building to-day, so that the de tions of Wambaugh and Melik can be taken in a case he has pending. He attaches the petition, which sets out that there is no reason why they cannot be in court, and the petitioner avers that the deposition is required to annoy him.

The Trial of Shortridge.

Yesterday in the Criminal Court William Shortridge, charged with perjury in falsely swearing to the age of Elsie Thomas, of Southport, to procure license for her and Leslie McLaughlin to marry, withdrew his former plea of not guilty and moved to have the indictment quashed. A continuance was granted till June 29 on motion of the state in order that more evidence might be procured before the argument.

Argument Continued. The argument over the attorneys' fees in

ance Company of Indianapolis was con tinued in Judge Leathers's court yesterday, and a decision as to the apportion ment has not yet been reached. It is said the aggregate amount of claims for attorney's fees is in the neighborhood of $20,000. Two Druggists Fined.

Joseph R. Perry and Frank Boesner,

THE COURT RECORD. SUPREME COURT. 18848. Hanson vs. Cruse. Marion S. Affirmed. Baker, C. J.-1. The relation of landlord and tenant raises neither an implied warranty of habitability of the dwelling nor an obligation to repair on the land-lord's part. 2. Where a landlord accepts rent and contracts with the tenant to repair obvious defects in the dwelling house in consideration of such rent, damages for personal injuries to the tenant resulting from such obvious defects are too remote to be recovered from the landlord. 3. A judgment will not be reversed by reason of sustaining a demurrer, for want of jurisdiction, and because other demurrers were improperly drafted when the pleading de murred to is bad. 18823. Clements vs. Davis. Montgomer; C. C. Reversed. Dowling, J.-1. Where wife seeks to enjoin the sheriff from paying money held in his hands as the proceeds of a sale under foreclosure proceed ings, and the husband claims no interest i the money, he is not a necessary party. When property is sold at sheriff's sale up on foreclosure proceedings and there comes into the hands of the sheriff through such sale more than a sufficient amount of money to pay the mortgage debt as foreclosed and the costs attached thereto, the wife of the mortgageor is entitled to onethird of such residue of the proceeds of the sale, notwithstanding the fact that the de cree in foreclosure provided that the overplus after paying the foreclosure judgment should be paid to judgment creditors o the husband when such wife was not made a party to the action to defend the interest claimed by such judgment creditors. 3. As a general rule one defendant can have no Bessire vs. Bessire. affirmative relief against a codefendant in Duncan vs. Duncan. st. V. T. College vs. Zion. plaint setting forth the particulars of his claim and tendering an issue. 4. Where there is a default the judgment of the court is conclusive only as to such matters as are properly averred or charged in the pleadings and which might have been litigated under them. 5. In a suit to foreclose mortgage on the lands of the husband executed by husband and wife, to which suit general judgment creditors of the husband are made defendants, and to which the wife is a party, it is not necessary that she should set up her incheate right to one-third of the lands mortgaged, or the proceeds of their sale as against the judgment creditors; and, when her interest in sale approved and sale confirmed; commisthe lands is not specifically put in issue she will not be concluded by a judgment directing the sale of the land and the application of the proceeds, after the payment of the mortgage debt, to the discharge of the general judgments against her husband. 19263. Manufacturers', etc., Company vs. Indiana, etc., Company, Grant C. C. Reversed. Dowling, J.-1. The owners of a natural gas well cannot use extraordinary means, such as pumping stations, to reduce gas to possession. 2. Natural gas in the ground is so far the subject of property rights in the owners of the superincumbent lands that while each of them has the right to bore or mine for it on his own land, and to use such portion of it as when left to the natural flowage, no one of the owners of such lands has the right, without the consent of all other owners, to induce an unnatural flow into or through his own wells, or to do any act with reference to the common reservoir and body of gas therein, | argue on motion; defendant excepts. injurious to or calculated to destroy it. 3 The manner of taking natural gas from the ground must be reasonable, and not injurious to or destructive of the common source from which the gas is drawn. 18919. C. & E. I. R. R. Co. vs. Richards Warren C. C. Petition to advance refused 19407. Larned vs. Elliott. Marion C. C. Cause advanced. 19408. In the matter of removal of Pas
